Paint-Wise

Is to paint when your property needs it. Paint-foolish is to wait for the price to go down.

But so many are foolish, they'll wait a good while. The whole rise in the cost of a job is 10 per cent. The first year's drop won't be more than half that, more likely a quarter.

Waiting for 5 percent, more likely 24. The average job (with Devoe) is $50; 5 percent, $2.50. Put it off for $2.50? Guess not.

You think of that job as $100. So it is with inferior paint.

Paint Devoe; do it now, if your property needs it.

DEVOE.

A. Calhoun & Son sell it.

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL J. NORTHRUP.

Seldom has this community sustained such a shock as when news of the death of Sam. J. Northrup was received by telegram Monday evening, October 7th. Having left home September 18th apparently in his usual health, he had visited his sister, Dr. Elizabeth Squier, in Albion, N. Y., his niece, Mrs. Harriet Wallace, in Rochester, and on his return stopped in Utica for a day or two with his nephew, Dr. Herbert Squier, where he was taken very ill and an immediate operation was necessary. The operation was successful, but complications set in and all efforts of resuscitation were in vain.

Mr. Northrup was born in Shoreham January 12, 1841, on the farm which has been in possession of the Northrup family since 1789 and was owned by him at the time of his death. He tenderly cared for his invalid mother during her declining years. The deceased served his country in the War of the Rebellion with the 14th regiment of the Vt. Volunteers. He had been a member of the John A. Logan Post since the time of its organization and the attendance of the surviving veterans from this and the adjoining towns gave evidence of the kind regard and esteem with which he was held by his comrades. He had always been a faithful attendant of the Congregational church and an efficient member of the choir from early manhood until the time of his death. He united with the church May 6, 1888, and has acceptably served as deacon since November 4, 1893.

On February 19, 1889, he was married to Amelia Louise Douglas. Their union was an unusually happy one, her death occurring November 8, 1906.

Deacon Northrup was a man of strong Christian character, quiet and unassuming in the extreme—a man who could be relied upon to take the right side in every moral, educational and religious interest. He was a useful member of the Shoreham Grange, being one of the charter members and chaplain at the time of his death.

The funeral was largely attended from the Congregational church Thursday afternoon, October 10. Rev. J. Chris Williams of Orwell officiated. Interment took place in Lake View cemetery beside his wife in the Douglas lot.

The following poem by James Whitcomb Riley gives expression to the thought of all who knew him:
I cannot say, and I will not say
That he is dead. He is just away!
With a cheery smile and a wave of his hand,

He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you, oh you, who the widest yearn
For the old time step and the glad return
Think of him faring on, as dear
In love of There as the love of Here
And loyal still as he gave the blows
Of his warrior strength to his country's foes—

Mild and gentle, as he was brave,
When the sweetest love of his life he gave

To simple things; where the violets grew
Pure as the eyes they were likened to.
The touches of his hands have strayed
As reverently as his lips have prayed:
When the little brown thrush that harshly chirred
Was as dear to him as the mocking-bird;
And he pined as much as a man in pain
A writhing honey bee wet with rain.
Think of him still as the same, I say;
He is not dead—he is just—away!
